

When personal wireless service facility sites are smaller, they aren't as easily seen, even though there may be more of them. The Telecommunications Act of 1996 and State Law give localities the choice.

There are five different personal wireless service facility sites in this photosimulation. Although there may never be any sites in this area, they have been photosimulated to show how they can blend with the landscape. Albemarle County requires less visible and less intrusive solutions such as those shown here.

Less visible & less intrusive

There are over 8 light poles in the background of this picture near the proposed facility; however, nearly all of them are provided a backdrop and are not sky lit.

Red lines –generally the same distance as the facility

Less visible & less intrusive

There are over 9 light poles in the background of this picture near the proposed facility; however, nearly all of them are provided a backdrop and are not sky lit.

Red lines –generally the same distance as the facility